

Please Ollie, Take The Children to the Seaside!

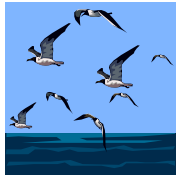

Ollie stands in the middle of the garage, and his red paint shines under the lights.

Ollie is a big red double-decker, and he lives with his friend in a garage in the middle of the town.

Every year Ollie takes a lot of children to the seaside for the day, and today is that special day. "I love the seaside," says Ollie to his best friend Bertie who stands beside him, but Bertie does not care.

Ollie feels sorry for his friend, because he wants to have his company on the long journey, and watch together the seagulls playing in the blue sky, and listen to the children, as they are going to the beach.
